Murder suspect ordered freed

By David Migoya
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — A St. Clair County grand jury on Friday ordered murder charges dropped against a Mitchell man after the jury refused to indict him with the July shooting death of a Granite City man.

John Ashburn, 37, of 723 E. Chain of Rocks Road, was arrested Sept. 28 and charged with first-degree murder in the death of Ricky J. Muckensturm, 32, of Granite City, on July 10. Ashburn also was charged with concealment of a homicide.

Ashburn, who was on bond for a felony in Madison County at the time of the shooting, was released Monday from the St. Clair County Jail after posting a $1,750 bond.

Police were led to Ashburn after they found his fishing license about five feet from Muckensturm's body, court records show.

Muckensturm had been shot once in the right eye, stabbed in the neck and his abdomen was slashed, records show. His body was dumped in a field on Bend Road, about a mile west of Illinois Route 3 in Brooklyn.

The grand jury said it found insufficient evidence to indict Ashburn with the offense and ordered his release from the St. Clair County Jail. Ashburn has been held there since his arrest on $175,000 bail.

During a preliminary hearing on Oct. 5, Ashburn's lawyer, James Wallis of Granite City, argued authorities had insufficient evidence that the murder occurred in St. Clair County.

An agent with the Illinois State Police Division of Criminal Investigation testified that more than two dozen witnesses saw Ashburn, Muckensturm and another man about 18 hours before the shooting. Ashburn allegedly threatened to kill Muckensturm over money he was owed, the agent testified.

The other man, whose name was not released, has not been charged.

The agent said witnesses told police Ashburn made identical death threats during a camping trip the two were on a month earlier.

On another occasion, Ashburn allegedly fired a pistol at Muckensturm a few weeks before the murder at Jimmy's Tavern in Madison, the agent said.

Ashburn, who was on bond in Madison County for two charges of unlawful use of a weapon by a felon offenses at the time, denied the incidents, saying he was at the Curve Inn in Granite City the night of the shooting.

Police are awaiting the results of tests done to blood stains found on Ashburn's clothes, shoes and socks. Records show tests also are being done to blood found in the bed of Ashburn's pickup truck.

Ashburn was ordered to submit a blood sample to determine whether the blood found was his.

On Oct. 19, St. Clair County Associate Judge Richard Aguirre reduced Ashburn's bail from $500,000 to $175,000 despite prosecutors' claims that witnesses were fearful if Ashburn was released.

Nine escape morning house fire

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A fire at 2400 Grand Ave. early Thursday morning has left nine residents, including a 14-month-old boy and seven other children, temporarily homeless.

Linda Whitford reported that an explosion awakened her family at 1:50 a.m. Thursday and alerted them that their apartment was burning. They were able to escape without injuries. She lived there with eight children.

The building is owned by Julian B. Wallace of 2110 Delmar Ave. Damage is estimated at $15,000.

The Granite City Fire Department responded to the blaze at 1:53 a.m., and was able to control the fire in about 20 minutes, according to Assistant Fire Chief Bob Bell.

The blaze left the main building of a four-apartment complex "not habitable," according to the official report. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

Whitford explained that the electricity and heat had been shut off by the power company Tuesday, for non-payment of bills. "We were using the fireplace (Wednesday evening), but there was no fire in it. It was just smoldering," according to Whitford.

According to the report, there was no sprinkler system, nor any smoke detectors in the apartment. Whitford said there was also "an empty fire extinguisher."

Wallace, who purchased the building in July, told Bell that he was unaware of an ordinance requiring smoke detectors. Bell said the owner was going to immediately install smoke detectors.

Ostresh is holding her downstairs neighbor Eleanor Coryell's 3-month-old daughter.

Upstairs apartment destroyed on Delmar

GRANITE CITY — Kids playing with matches were probably the cause of a fire Friday afternoon that destroyed an upstairs apartment in the 1700 block of Delmar Avenue.

Capt. Don Simon said a mattress, which was not flame resistant, caught fire.

The fire quickly spread throughout the apartment, he said, because the apartment was essentially two rooms with a half-wall divider.

Simon said there was no fire damage to the two downstairs apartments in the building, but the lower apartments had suffered some water damage.

Firefighters responded to the fire shortly before 2 p.m.

Six residents of the building, including three in the upstairs apartment, were home at the time of the fire.

All escaped unharmed. Simon said the firefighter surrounded the building to protect the neighboring buildings, but got the fire contained very quickly.

"It's a scary part of town," Simon said. "There are a lot of frame buildings and they are very close together."

AIDS victim to test new drug

By Mary Ann Mazenko
Staff writer

SOUTH ROXANA — Sunday, Nov. 4, will be a red-letter day for former Granite Cityan Jason Robertson.

That's the day the 10-year-old and his mother, Tammy, will begin a journey of hope.

Jason has the AIDS virus and has been accepted in an experimental AIDS drug program at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md.

Jason contracted the deadly virus from a blood transfusion used to treat his hemophilia, a genetic bleeding disorder.

No cure has yet been discovered for AIDS, which cripples the immune system, leaving the victim prey to diseases such as certain cancers.

The Robertsons' only cost will be the first trip out to Bethesda.

"They said everything would be paid for because it was experimental," Tammy Robertson said, "but that we had to pay for the first trip out there."

Jason will be there two weeks then return home to take the drugs for six months. He'll travel back to Bethesda monthly so medical personnel can monitor his tolerance.

Dee Cairns, Jason's fourth-grade teacher at South Roxana Elementary School, is spearheading efforts to raise about $400 for a train trip east.

"They've been under a lot of financial stress and they don't have the money," Cairns said.

"It's incredible what this family has been through. In addition to a heavy burden of medical bills, the Robertsons were forced to move from Granite City in 1988 after threats and protests from parents afraid their children would get AIDS from Jason."

After the move, Jason was accepted as a student at South Roxana Elementary.

"Jason is very well adjusted," Cairns said. "He's just another kid in the classroom."

Contributions to the trip fund may be sent to the Jason Robertson Trust Fund at Illinois State Bank, Main Street and West St. Louis Avenue, East Alton, Ill., 62024.

Tammy Robertson said she is excited about the possibility of improved health for her son.

"It's a chance for Jason to feel good for a while," she said. "I've seen kids running and playing baseball because they're on these drugs."

Jason is often sick, she said, and is not gaining weight.

Jason jumped at the chance to try the experimental drug, his mother said. "I wanted him to help in the decision. I told him there were some new drugs out there, but that they'd sick him and do all kinds of tests."

She also told Jason there was a chance the drugs could make him sicker.

"Without even hesitating, he said he wanted to try it," his mother said.

Ghosts, goblins, ghouls & things that go bump in the night ...

GRANITE CITY — Leonardo, Michelangelo, Dick Tracy and George Bush are all expected to invade the downtown area Wednesday evening at sundown.

No, it is not an artist's convention. Nor is it another attempt to solve the budget crisis. It's the city's annual Halloween parade, sponsored by Moose Lodge 272.

The parade will begin at City Hall at 7 p.m., and proceed down State Street to 14th Street. The various goblins, spooks, political figures and Ninja Turtles will then follow 14th Street to Edison Avenue, at which point they will turn and follow Edison back to City Hall.

Dan, Don and Dave Partney will judge costumes. Cash awards will be presented to the most humorous, most original, and overall "best" costume.

Parents of participants may drop their children off at City Hall shortly before 7 p.m., and pick them up at the same location after the parade.

Frank Woods is the chairman of the event.

Student council honored with pride award

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City High School Student Council received honorable mention in the 1990 "Hometown Pride" awards featured in the October issue of "Midwest Living" magazine.

The Student Council's "Holiday Drive" was recognized in the "People Helping People" category for communities with a population of 5,000 to 49,000 people. The award program is intended to recognize volunteer programs that result in community improvement. The contest received more than 600 entries from 12 midwestern states.

Student council adviser Steve Hamilton called the award "quite an honor." It shows that the students of Granite City High School are among the best in the country when it comes to serving the community.

The Student Council begins its Holiday Drive in early October. Hamilton said the program originated several years ago as a simple delivery of collected canned goods to needy area families at Christmas. Over the years it has evolved into a six-part, holiday season project.

The six parts of the Holiday program include:

Shopping for the needy. In late October, teachers at elementary schools recommend children in their classrooms who lack essential clothing items, such as coats, pants, gloves or boots. The names of these children are forwarded to the student council. In early December, council representatives purchase and gift wrap the needed items, and the gifts are delivered to the students.

This program is funded by a Lip-Sync contest held at the school one evening in December. Students take turns, as an individual or group, pantomiming their favorite song. A group of teachers act as judges to determine a winner.

Shopping spree. In November, some furniture, such as a sofa and chairs, may be added to the area in the near future, Briggs said.

The renovations represent the first time the Coffee Shop has undergone any changes in the dining room since it was built, except for the removal of one bench and losing several feet of space when the Information Desk was moved to another location when the Gift Shop was expanded. In the past, remodeling has occurred only in the kitchen.

Changes in the Coffee Shop culminate a year's worth of activity in the main lobby, which began last September with the tearing down and rebuilding of names of two particularly needy children. One boy and one girl from the district are chosen to go on "the shopping spree of their lives." Council representatives accompany the children to local stores, where personal items, such as pants, shoes, underwear, socks, coats, gloves and one or two toys of their choice are purchased. Each child is then treated to a hot meal.

The shopping spree is funded by the annual "Mistletoe Christmas Dance" held in the school cafeteria.

Toy drive. Local elementary schools receive a total of fifty wrapped packages containing toys, for distribution to students. The toys are solicited from local merchants, the Mayor's office, and teachers, staff and students of the high school.

Shoes for needy children. In November, social workers at elementary schools are asked to recommend students in need of new shoes. The school with the largest number of needy students is given a $500 check for the purchase of new shoes.

In order to finance this program, each club or organization at the school is asked to donate from $10 to $25 from their treasury.

Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets. During each holiday season, the student council solicits, constructs and delivers food baskets for families who could otherwise do without. In 1989, more than 250 food baskets were delivered.

Funding for the food baskets is raised through several projects. An in-school aluminum can recycling project, a raffle and a homeroom "pass the hat" session help to finance the food baskets.

The cost of all "Holiday Drive" projects in 1989 was approximately $9,000.

"Midwest Living" has a circulation of 650,000. Primarily in 12 states in the midwest region. It focuses on the interests, values and lifestyles of residents of the midwest.

Gunman gets cash from man

A Granite City man was forced to give up his wallet containing $120 to a gunman about 4:45 p.m. Friday.

Robert E. Bowen, 38, of the 2200 block of Lee Avenue was driving north in the 2000 block alley, between Madison and Grand avenues, approaching McDonald's Restaurant parking lot when a man in his mid-30s walked in front of his car, pulled open the passenger door and said, "I want your wallet."

"You want what?" Bowen asked. "I want your wallet or I'll shoot you," the robber replied, pointing a handgun.

Bowen gave him the wallet and, as the victim watched from his car, the robber walked south in the alley, removed the cash and threw the wallet away. When he was unable to see the man anymore, the victim walked down the alley and retrieved his wallet, he told police.

The robber was about 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighed about 145 pounds. He wore a red/white check flannel shirt and black dress pants. He had a thin scar on the right cheek and a pitted complexion, Bowen said.

The weapon was a small handgun, possibly a .22 caliber semi-automatic with white grips, the victim said.

Mobile home burns

A fire at 11:50 p.m. Tuesday left a mobile home at 2823 Warren Avenue in Granite City uninhabitable. The official report estimated the damages at $9,000.

An investigation into the cause of the fire revealed an electrical short circuit, which caused the blaze, said Assistant Fire Chief Bob Bell.

The mobile home was rented by Barbara Kudelka and her two children. No injuries were reported.

The structure was owned by a Paul Bryant, address unknown.

Chevy Impala stolen

Lisa Dobogoe, 16, of the U.S. Army Police Support Center, reported Oct. 25 that her red 1985 4-door Chevrolet Impala had been stolen from the parking lot at Granite City High School.

Burglar loots office

A burglary was reported at the former Jennison-Wright building, 900 W. 22nd St., on Oct. 26. Reported missing were a telephone answering machine valued at $100, a microwave oven valued at $150 and a briarwood pipe and tobacco valued at $20.

Masonic ring gone

Lewis Simpson of the 2400 block of Edison Avenue reported Oct. 18 that a Masonic gold ring with a red stone and a diamond inset was missing from the locked glove compartment of his 1989 Buick while the vehicle was left at a local business place for service.

Probation warrant

Robert Edward Moulton, 29, of the 2500 block of Parkview Drive, was arrested in the 1900 block of Joy Avenue at 2:25 p.m. Oct. 19 on a warrant alleging violation of probation.

During a court appearance the same day, a judge signed a mittimus document and Moulton was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Parolee arrested

Aldric Charles Ellsworth, 18, of the 1700 block of Cleveland Boulevard was arrested on a warrant issued by the Illinois Department of Corrections alleging parole violation at 12:15 p.m. Oct. 18.

Ellsworth and another man were first spotted by an officer while the pair was walking down the 1700 block alley between Delmar Avenue and Cleveland Boulevard.

The officer began following the men, who separated upon seeing the police car, with one of the men continuing to walk down the alley.

The second man, later identified as Ellsworth, went between houses and began to run with the officer giving chase and catching the man at the rear of a garage in the 1700 block of Cleveland.

The suspect gave police another name, but later identified as Ellsworth and arrested on the warrant, police said.

Ellsworth appeared on Oct. 19 before a judge, who signed a mittimus document transferring the suspect to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

SEMC Coffee Shop undergoes gets facelift

GRANITE CITY — Rarely has there been a quiet moment in the main lobby at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"Not until 4:30 p.m., when they go home," said Dorothy Heth, referring to construction workers from the Wolf Group making renovations to the Coffee Shop.

Heth and others who work at the Information Desk, the main lobby at the center have been a captive audience to the construction craze, as have others who work in the business office and Coffee Shop.

At one time, drills whirled, saws buzzed and hammers pounded worse than a migraine headache. Peace and quiet had never been in higher demand. But the noise appears to have been well worth it, when one steps back and notices the difference.

"One of the things we wanted to create was a homey, cheery atmosphere when you first walk in the front door of the medical center," said Elizabeth Briggs, president of the Auxiliary.

The differences are beyond aesthetic. Privacy, lighting and security have all been greatly improved.

Consider: The appearance — a 26½-foot-long oak planter built in front of the outer wall of the Coffee Shop, and an area rug with a dove logo in the center of the lobby (on order);

"The privacy — a 2-foot, 4-inch, raised extension to the outer wall, complete with 22 clear glass panels featuring the medical center's dove logo in the middle, etched in white;

"The lighting — several white bowl lights mounted on 7-foot-high pedestals;

'One of the things we wanted to create was a homey, cheery atmosphere when you first walk in the front door of the medical center.'

— Elizabeth Briggs
President of the SEMC Auxiliary

"The security — glass panels mounted in the wall by the serving line, which opens up an area previously blocked from view;

Some furniture, such as a sofa and chairs, may be added to the area in the near future, Briggs said.

The renovations represent the first time the Coffee Shop has undergone any changes in the dining room since it was built, except for the removal of one bench and losing several feet of space when the Information Desk was moved to another location when the Gift Shop was expanded. In the past, remodeling has occurred only in the kitchen.

Changes in the Coffee Shop culminate a year's worth of activity in the main lobby, which began last September with the tearing down and rebuilding of brick walls and the completion of a new Gift Shop in late February.

"Business is booming in the Gift Shop," Briggs noted. "I think it and the Coffee Shop go hand-in-hand. If someone stops in one for something, they often go into the other, and vice-versa. They really enhance each other."

Both the Coffee and Gift shops have experienced record sales during the past few months. In the Gift Shop, licensed products such as Disney and Precious Moments have been hot items. "I tell you just go as fast as we can put them out on the shelves," Briggs said. "We have back-orders on many of these items."

Jewelry and candy are other big sellers. "Our jewelry and candy salesman tell us we sell more per square foot than any body else they have," Briggs said.

She noted that associates are one of the Gift Shop's biggest customers. "The big thing is keeping merchandise on the shelves for them to buy, to keep getting new products. The Auxiliary wants to thank everyone for shopping with us and making the new Gift Shop a success."

As an added service, postage stamps are now available in the Gift Shop.

ESL City Hall ruling stands

By David Migoya

BELLEVILLE — A St. Clair County judge on Friday ruled the judge who took City Hall away from East St. Louis was not prejudiced against the city and that the ruling would stand.

Lawyers for the city argued that on Sept. 27 a judge wrongfully awarded City Hall to Walter DeBow to satisfy part of a damage award DeBow won in a negligence suit.

On Monday, the same argument was thrown out of federal court in East St. Louis. Attorneys argued that public property belongs to citizens and cannot be given away to a judgment creditor.

In his decision Friday, Circuit Judge Lloyd A. Karmier said East St. Louis city attorney Eric E. Vickers had not shown that Associate Judge Roger Scrivner was biased in the award or that Scrivner acted with prejudice.

"There is nothing in the (original) transcript to indicate any prejudicial conduct or that Judge Scrivner's ruling was based upon any prejudice or bias against the City of East St. Louis," Karmier wrote.

DeBow, formerly of Madison, was arrested on a minor traffic violation and then severely brain-damaged in a beating by a violent cellmate while in the city jail.

DeBow won $3.4 million in his suit, which grew past $4 million with interest. DeBow's attorney, Clyde Kuehn of Belleville, said the city ignored his settlement offer of $1 million and ignored DeBow for nearly four years.

In 1988, city bank accounts were frozen by a court order after East St. Louis lost the case on appeal and continued to refuse payment.

In Scrivner's award, DeBow also was given a 220-acre industrial site owned by the city. Records show DeBow has since sold that property.

Vickers could not be reached for comment on Karmier's ruling.

Water levels measured

The Illinois State Water Survey will be measuring water levels in wells in the Metro East area from Oct. 29 through Nov. 9 as part of an ongoing program to monitor groundwater levels in the area. Water Survey personnel will be contacting well owners who have participated in previous studies.

According to Water Survey hydrologist Scott Meyer, a team of researchers will be measuring water levels in about 250 wells in the Metro East area. About three-quarters of the wells are used for commercial and industrial purposes.

"We will use data collected during the mass measurement to assess the extent of lowering of the water table in areas near pumping wells and to identify areas which are subject to a rising water table," Meyer said.

Mass measurement data will also allow Water Survey researchers to determine directions of groundwater flow in Metro East.

The area in which wells will be measured encompass portions of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe Counties in Illinois.

For further information call Scott Meyer, Illinois State Water Survey, 217-333-0162.

Firemen say, 'Lunch is on us.'

FIRST-GRADE STUDENTS from Mary Veloff's class at Lake Elementary School show off their first-place poster with the help of Granite City firefighter Dave Jenkins.

SECOND-GRADERS in Kathy Kirksey's class at Frohardt Elementary School with their first-place poster, both at ground level (left) and at lunch.

The Granite City Fire Department recently treated approximately 60 children to lunch at the main fire station on Madison Avenue. The first- and second-graders were the winners in a fire safety poster contest open to all first- and second-graders in the Granite City school district.

The firefighters made lunch for the children, which consisted of hotdogs, baked beans, chips, milk and ice cream. Prairie Farms donated the dairy products and the food was donated by local area Schnucks and National stores. The stores also displayed the more than 40 posters that were turned into the fire department for the contest.

The children were treated to an extra special tour of the fire station after lunch. Firefighters allowed the children to see where they sleep when they are on duty and gave demonstrations on the proper way to slide down a fire pole.

All the children got a turn with the fire hose in putting out a make believe fire. The children also got to watch as an adult volunteer from each class was dressed in full firefighter gear including the oxygen tank.

Troop braves heat to end the summer

Junior Girl Scout Troop 474 ended the summer months with a two night camping trip, to Camp Torqua in Edwardsville, over the weekend of Aug. 24.

Although the daytime temperatures were in the sweltering 90s, they managed to keep cool by having water balloon fights and drinking lots of pink lemonade.

As the day's scorching temperatures dropped during the night, the girls found fiftal sleep outdoors in their tent.

Even though the weather was arid, members enjoyed cooking their meals over campfires they built, hiking through the woods, and relaxing while doing crafts.

Other activities new to them, included making sun prints, collecting spider webs, pitching a trail tent, learning to care for a jack knife and using it to whittle their own hiking stick.

Those in attendance to the weekend include Rebecca Besserman, Laura Crites, Lisa Dillard, Holly Pascoe, and their leader Judy Besserman who was assisted by Paul Besserman and Donna Crites.

Woodward was accepted by the DAR National Society for membership in Granite City's Drusilla Andrews Chapter on Oct. 15, 1930.

She transferred her membership upon moving to the Cleveland area, where she lived for many years.

Several years ago, Woodward returned to Granite City and immediately transferred back to her home chapter.

A special 60-year certificate from the national DAR was presented to the honoree, along with a vase of flowers from Jane Vanesler, chapter chairman.

Open house today at Mormon chapel

Granite City area residents will have the opportunity to take a closer look at The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) today (Sunday) when the church premieres a new film and hosts an open house at the Edwardsville Chapel, 2250 Illinois 157 South.

Titled "The Prodigal Son," the film is a modern-day depiction of the well-known biblical parable of the same name and will be shown at 7 p.m. today, according to Kenneth VonForell, local bishop.

VonForell, senior vice president of Florists' Insurance, said the 30-minute film has a strong message.

"The film portrays the story of a man who has just returned after spending months in a rehabilitation center and the reaction of his family to his return. It's a drama that shows how choices affect us and how we can all benefit from accepting the teachings of Jesus Christ," VonForell said.

Guests also may view displays or attend workshops which feature discussions about families and the purpose of life. Other displays will feature the Book of Mormon, Boy Scouts and children programs.

"We want to invite all our neighbors and non-member friends to visit with us at this open house and to see our church in an informal setting. A nursery will be provided and refreshments served," VonForell said.

The Mormon Church will host similar open house programs throughout North America. For further information, contact Eve Yurcisin at 877-5015.

Daylily group presents slate

The Southwestern Illinois Hemerocallis (daylily) Society met Friday, Oct. 5 at the Bethel to Community Center. The meeting began at 7:30 p.m. with 35 present.

The nominating committee presented their slate of officers for 1991. They were Robert Grinstead of Edwardsville, president; Dolores Bourisaw of Granite City, vice president; Lu Dickhut of Carlinville, secretary; and Hans Jensen of Granite City treasurer. They were elected by acclamation. There is a rule that no one can serve more than two terms in the same office.

Each new member received a daylily plant. The new members are Charles and Jeannette James, Eva McDonald, Anna Hollister, Greg James and Daniel Lipe.

It was decided to send Illinois Nature Conservancy $100, which makes the Hemerocallis Society an Acorn member. Acorn members provide the support needed to protect endangered plants and animals by preserving the places where they live. There are more than 20,000 members in Illinois.

Virgil Kirksey of Granite City provided 100 daylilies for further Bethalto beautification. These plants were from Kirksey's yard and were planted along highway 140 in Bethalto.

There were drawings for four gift plants for members who had attended three meetings.

The Christmas Party for the club will be Dec. 9 with Kathleen Ash, Pat Hinrichs, Pat Storm and Doris Kurnes trying to find the "special place" for the party.

After refreshments were served, the group was shown slides taken at the National Daylily Convention featuring many lovely daylilies. Lu Dickhut took the pictures at the convention. Lena Graham of Edwardsville also brought slides of daylilies in her yard. And Pat Storm of Godfrey had slides of the society's Garden Tour.

DAR's centennial is time for reflection

The National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution, including its chapter in Granite City, recently celebrated the centennial anniversary of the national organization.

Breathing problems put aside for a day

For persons with chronic lung disease, deterioration occurs over a long period of time. Often times, these individuals may become depressed and avoid socializing with others because they lose their breath easily and can't keep pace.

None of that, however, was evident at a recent get-together of support groups from three area hospitals, where food, folks and fun were all in abundance.

More than 100 persons afflicted with chronic lung disease gathered for an end-of-the-summer picnic at Creve Coeur Park in St. Louis. A barbecue got the day off to a good start, which was flavored with conversation and later marked with outdoor activities.

"It makes you realize you do have a future, that you can still have an active life rather than being confined to your room because you are on oxygen," said Dan McDowell, director of Pulmonary Services at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"These people could look around and see others just like them. It makes you realize no matter how bad you think you've got it, somebody else has got it worse."

Woman honored with surprise

Dorothy Kowak was honored with a surprise birthday party Sunday, Oct. 14, at the home of her niece, Barbara and Gary Phelps Sr. of Granite City.

Attending were John and Shirley Kowak, Dan and Schobum, Helen and John Kudelka, Charles and Darlene Boyer, Erin, Mindy and Lindsey, Becky Eaves and Jennifer, Dale Phelps, Steve Phelps, Tim and Janice Phelps and Hannah and Marguerite Barker.

CARRIAGE RIDES were the highlight of the day at an end-of-the-summer picnic held for persons with chronic lung disease. Members of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Better Breathers Club were the only representatives from Illinois.

Members from the Better Breathers Club at St. Elizabeth Medical Center united with St. Luke's "Aire Force" and "The Breathing Center" from Christian Northeast/Northwest for the outing, which organizers billed as "Vegas in the Park."

Activities at the event ranged from sit-down to the physical variety. They included: roulette, blackjack, poker, bingo, a water balloon toss, and a game where persons passed a bucket full of water down a line by alternating the handoffs either through the legs or over the head.

Prizes consisted of coffee mugs, caps, canvas carrying bags and t-shirts provided by the hospitals, and certificates to eating establishments such as The Den and A Taste of Italy, restaurants in Granite City. Bingo winners received first-aid kits, with the top prize being a $75 cash award.

There were also two lucky attendance prize winners, who won overnight stays at Pere Marquette and the Clarion Hotel, in downtown St. Louis.

The day was capped off with horse-drawn carriage rides through the park.

"Carol Smith, who is the coordinator of the Better Breathers Club for the department, did a great job organizing things for us," McDowell said.

Organizers are already planning for next year's outing. Provide Medical equipment company, affiliated with SEMC's sister corporation, Providence, served as the catalyst to bringing the three hospitals together for the first time.

"In the past, Providence has done something with the individual hospitals, but not as a group," McDowell said. "This really worked out well because we got to see how the other hospitals work with their clubs. It was evident we all have the same goal — to improve our patients' quality of life."

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE CHRISTMAS...

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

The Christmas Season is rapidly approaching, and our City is without traditional Christmas decorations that many of our communities enjoy. We lack of community spirit or interest in the traditional observance of the Holiday Season. It appears that the absence of a central organizer to bring together the parties that could provide the resources to purchase and manage such a project may have been the problem rather than the lack of community spirit or interest.

Your local Chamber of Commerce and City Government are offering to be the business district along Namok Road, Johnson Road, Fehling Road, and the Central Downtown Business district between 18th Street and 23rd Street from Madison Ave. to Cleveland Ave.

We are proposing to purchase street banners depicting the Christmas brackets. The banners would be put in place and removed for storage by certain departments of the city. The brackets once attached to the street light poles would remain in place and might be useful for other seasonal celebrations. It is estimated that the approximate cost for banner and brackets is $100 per described.

Corporations, clubs, organizations and individual citizens of Granite City will be asked to contribute to this effort as well as businesses and professions there must be strong participation from the business and professional community. Please indicate your level of support by purchasing one or more sets of banner(s) and mounting brackets.

Check the appropriate number and drop in the return mail so we may be able to move forward with this project in time for this Christmas Season.

Sincerely

Bananas, almonds and coffee make brownies special

Dark chocolate brownies gain a silky texture and nice instant moistness when made with extra-ripe, full-flavored bananas. In this recipe, toasted almonds add a yummy crunch and instant coffee contributes a touch of mocha.

As if that is not enough of a good thing, the frosting recipe is terrific, too. It is an intensely flavored blend of melted semi-sweet chocolate and pureed bananas, a simple enhancement of the brownie's flavor.

There is more than one way to handle bananas. They can be stored at room temperature or in a refrigerator. Lower temperatures slow the ripening process. The peel darkens under refrigeration, but inside the fruit will be firm and fresh. On the other hand, to speed up ripening, store bananas at room temperature in a paper bag.

Almond banana brownie cake

3 extra-ripe medium bananas, peeled, pureed (1½ cups)

2 tsp. instant coffee powder
2 cups sugar
¼ cup margarine, softened
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups flour
¼ cup cocoa
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups chopped almonds, toasted
2 squares (1 oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate
1 extra-ripe, small banana, peeled, pureed (½ cup)

Blend 1½ cups pureed banana with coffee powder.

In bowl, beat sugar and margarine until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs and vanilla. Beat in banana mixture.

Combine flour, cocoa, baking soda, cinnamon, baking powder and salt. Add to banana mixture. Beat until blended. Stir in almonds.

Turn into well-greased 13-by-9-inch baking pan. Bake in 350° oven 30 to 35 minutes. Cool on rack 10 minutes.

Spread with Chocolate Banana Frosting. Cool completely. Cut in squares or triangles.

Makes 16 to 24 brownies.

Chocolate banana frosting: Melt chocolate according to

THE FLAVOR OF BANANAS in brownies is distinctive, mellow and intriguing.

Butterscotch cake wins monthly Journal contest

Evelyn Bruce, 4949 Harney Ave., St. Louis, is the winner of this week's dinner certificates from The Pasta House Co. for Butterscotch-Almond Cake.

Her original recipe called for a canned butterscotch pudding that is not available in the St. Louis area, so she uses the snack pack pudding with equal flavor success. Two cups of other prepared pudding can be used with equal baking success. With a baked-on topping, it needs no frosting.

Butterscotch-Almond

Cake

1 pkg. (2 layer) yellow cake mix
4 individual servings (1 snack pack) or 2 cups prepared butterscotch pudding
2 eggs
1 pkg. (6 oz.) butterscotch chips
1 pkg. (1 oz.) sliced almonds
3 tbsp. sugar

Mix together dry cake mix, butterscotch pudding and eggs. Beat with electric mixer 2 minutes. Pour into 9-by-13-inch cake pan. Sprinkle top of batter with butterscotch chips, almonds and sugar.

Bake for 35 minutes at 350°.

Pumpkin's toothy grin hides its serious culinary benefits

Treats from the pumpkin patch are not limited to baked goods, even though pies, cookies and breads are among the most talked-about culinary uses of this fall favorite. There is a lot more potential for this meaty winter squash, as early English settlers learned in using pumpkins to survive during their first hard winters in the New World.

Spooky, silly jack-o'-lantern faces should not be a joke. There's serious nutrition in pumpkins. Low-calorie pumpkin meat provides a healthy serving of beta-carotene, a form of vitamin A that has been linked to lower incidence of certain types of cancer in studies funded by the American Institute for Cancer Research. Pumpkin is also a good source of dietary fiber.

Pumpkin can be used just about any way a vegetable is used. It is particularly good in hearty fall soups and stews. Diced pumpkin, with chopped onions, celery and mushrooms is delicious in a wild rice stuffing for chicken or turkey, or it can be shredded raw in stir-fry dishes.

When scanning the pumpkin patch for bargain leftovers, note that deep orange, Halloween-style pumpkins are not best for cooking. Light brown "cheese" pumpkin and small orange "sugar" pumpkin provide more and sweeter meat than those grown for decorative purposes. Avoid pumpkins that are broken, cracked, excessively scarred or showing signs of soft rot.

Canned pumpkin is a good alternative to fresh varieties. It requires less work, can be more economical and usually is a better source of beta-carotene. Use it in the following recipe for a mild and creamy Pumpkin Bisque that is low in fat and high in vitamin A value. This delicious soup will add a festive touch to a fall meal, or it could be a light lunch or supper itself with the addition of whole grain bread.

Discover plentiful, fresh beets for bright flavor

The cook who wants to add a dash of bright color and a sweet natural taste to a vegetable repertoire should discover or rediscover — fresh beets. Tender, delicious root vegetables have waned in popularity in recent years, but because they are a relatively slow-cooking food in a fast-paced world.

Yet fresh beets are a nutritious bargain. A medium beet contains only 31 calories, but these no-fat vegetables provide a good source of potassium and dietary fiber. Beets are a tasty, nutritious means of meeting national health agencies' recommendations for eating more fruits and vegetables.

Although this is smack-dab in the peak season for fresh beets, they store well and are available year-round. Look for beets that have firm, smooth-skinned, round, dark-red globes and that are free from cuts or bruises. Small to medium sizes are usually more tender than large ones. Select beets with the freshest green tops, although those with wilted tops are acceptable if the root is firm and colorfull.

In preparing beets, remove the tops an inch or two above the root. To retain the maximum color, flavor and nutrition, do not cut, slice or peel them before cooking. Boiling, steaming or baking are the best cooking methods.

Harvard beets, a sweet-and-sour preparation may be the most well-known beet recipe, but they are delicious in different combinations. Their flavor blends well with fruits like oranges, apples and raisins and with vegetables, including potatoes, greens and onions. Combine them with rice or pasta, too. Some of the most complementary herbs used to season beets are dill, caraway, rosemary, parsley, basil and chives.

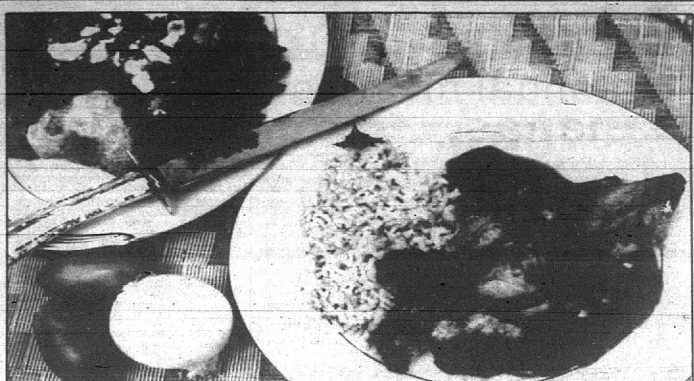

In the following recipe, horseradish adds zip to traditional beet dish. This colorful salad is a good way to introduce beets to the reluctant. The sweet taste of beets is subtle, rather than overwhelming, in this favorite Polish salad.

For information about handling, storing, preparing and cooking other vegetables, send a request for "Handle Us Gently," a produce handling chart, to: American Institute for Cancer Research, Department HU, Washington, D.C. 20069.

- 2 tbsp. water
 - 1 tsp. finely minced onion, if desired
- Combine beets with horseradish, sugar, vinegar, water and onion in casserole or bowl. Mix well. Store, covered, 1 to 3 days before serving.

Makes about 2 cups; 60 calories and no dietary fat per ½-cup serving.

22nd District holds its annual meeting

The 22nd District American Legion Auxiliary held its Fall Meeting at the Tri-City Post 113 in Granite City on Saturday, Oct. 13. President Betty Hardison presided.

Special guests were Helen Malanski, state president from Tamaroa; Becky Gabel, state first vice president from Fox River Grove; and Marybeth Revolt, state membership chairman from Chicago. The three guests presented the program activities for 1990-91.

Other guests were: James Muir, 22nd District commander from Belleville; Curtis Bevin, senior vice commander of 22 District from Wood River; and Nick Ponton, junior vice commander of 22 District from Belleville. These men brought greetings from The American Legion and spoke on membership and veterans programs.

Reports were given by the district officers and chairmen and plans made for activities. Department President's special project is donations to the Pilot Dog Scholarships in Columbus, Ohio, for guide dogs. Valentine gifts are planned for the women veterans in hospitals; donations for furniture for the waiting room at the John Cochran V.A. Hospital Intensive Care Area; items will be given for the USO at Lambert Airport; plan to have a refreshment tent at the Special Olympics for Area 12 and for the State Games next June; Christmas gifts will be purchased for the seven children's homes in the district area; favors and comfort articles will be continued at the Jefferson Barracks and John Cochran V.A. Hospitals as well as the Alton Mental Health Center; and donations of articles and money for parties will be sent for the Martin V.A. Hospital, Choate Mental Health Center in Anna, and the Chester Mental Health Center.

The Tri-City Unit 113 was the hostess group with Carmen Dickerson, president, as local chairman for the day. There were 88 in attendance from Madison, Bond, St. Clair, Monroe and Washington counties. The next meeting will be held on Jan. 20, 1991, in Nashville.

World Community Day for area Church Women

World Community Day will be observed by Church Women United of the Quad-City Area on Friday, Nov. 2, at Nameco Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, starting at 1 p.m.

Area women taking part in the worship service, include: Ola Jones, Eva Clemmons, Burdine Holtzsch, Dorothy Kinney, Gladys Williams, Kay Anderson, Dorothea Rivenburgh, Connie Koehler, Helen Todoroff, Helen Roessner, Mae Lee, Valerie Stevens, Ruth Jensen and the Rev. Vicki Harden-Evans.

World Community Day is an ecumenical worship event, sponsored annually by Church Women United.

The special day brings Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women together to focus on issues of the wider global community and a mutual search for justice and peace in the world.

"Women of Justice/Justice for Women" is the theme for the 1990 observance that raises consciousness to the condition of women of all races and cultures who are oppressed.

It lifts up for support and prayer the groups and individual women who are working for justice, said Ruth Jensen, CWU public relations chairman.

Church Women United is the national ecumenical movement that brings together Christian women into one community of prayer, advocacy and service, she said.

CWU membership represents a broad spectrum of religious tradition, race, age, economic status and ethnic background and functions through a national unit, 52 state units, including the greater Washington, D.C., area and Puerto Rico, and 1,750 local units throughout the United States.

Young at Heart group's holiday party on Dec. 10

The October meeting of Holy Family Young at Heart Club was called to order by President Irma Manning. Sister Margaret Mary read the renewal prayer and the members recited the Pledge of Allegiance.

Billie Schuler, recording secretary, read the minutes of the September meeting.

Members celebrating birthdays this month were Rose Juhasz, Adele Balcer and Florence Hagauer. Joe and Adele Balcer are celebrating their 46th anniversary this month.

Rose Juhasz, friendship, gave a report on cards sent to members. She thanked the members for their prayers, cards and masses sent during her illness.

Elizabeth McCoy, membership, reported 78 were in attendance. Lucille Caban, publicity, brought and passed around the scrap book. President Manning explained the "come share" program. To be eligible for this program, two hours of volunteer service each month is required plus $13. The first distribution of food for those who registered was Oct. 27 at Holy Family Community Center.

The Christmas party will be Dec. 10, beginning at 6 p.m. Cost will be $6 per person. Reservations and payment may be made at the November meeting. All reservations must be in and paid for by Dec. 4.

Attendance prizes were won by Ann Gasparovic, Wilma Vavra, John Danco, Irma Manning, Mary Volm, Joe Balcer, Art Lindner, Vincine Zerlin, Anna Schaub and Mattie Sotloff.

Donuts, toffee and cider was served by the refreshment committee. An auction followed.

Belushi performs poorly in Disney's 'Mr. Destiny'

By Harry Hamm
Staff writer

Disney Studios is expert at making movies that borrow elements from other projects and end up benevolently manipulating the audience.

Viewers realize that the "reality" they're watching is absurd, but the film still leaves them with a good feeling. The box office results usually are outstanding.

"Mr. Destiny" (R) from Disney's Touchstone Pictures is another example of this kind of formula film. It has shades of "It's a Wonderful Life" and "Heaven Can Wait." It is totally implausible. Even it's lead character, played poorly and without much effect by Jim Belushi, is discredited and lacks any edge of discovery. Yet somehow, especially near the end, you find yourself rooting for something good to evolve.

Belushi plays Larry Burrows, a middle-management employee of a large sporting goods company. Twenty years earlier, when Larry was a senior in high school, he struck out during a championship baseball game.

Larry can't get that moment out of his mind. He's convinced the incident had a profoundly negative effect on his life. Since the fateful day, Larry has always felt that his existence has been doomed to mediocrity. Larry's feeling of failure is reinforced by his going-nowhere, 9-to-5 job; his small tract house in the suburbs; and the fact that his wife, played by Linda Hamilton, has to work in the sporting goods company's factory to help pay the bills.

Larry often ponders what might have happened, imagining that his life might have turned out better had he only hit a home run instead of striking out. Through a chance meeting with a bartender named Mike, who turns out to be Mr. Destiny in disguise, Larry gets to go back to that game and hit the home run. Sure enough, his future is better in a big way. It all seems perfect until Larry slowly learns that money corrupts—and that he had more going for himself in his old life than he had realized.

Michael Caine is very good in the small role of Mr. Destiny. Jon Lovitz is bland as Larry's best buddy, Clip. But Belushi doesn't work at all.

If it you really want to get a lift, you may want to go right past "Mr. Destiny" to the video store and pick up "It's a Wonderful Life." George Bailey is a lot more believable than Larry Burrows.

Nurse receives certification from sports medicine college

GRANITE CITY — Karen Dorris, RN, an associate in the Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation Program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center has been certified as an exercise test technician by the American College of Sports Medicine.

Dorris passed both a written and an oral test to receive her certification.

The written test seemed harder to me," Dorris said. "It required a lot of background in cardiology. For the oral test, we had to demonstrate each step you put the patient through during a treadmill test."

Dorris had to show her knowledge of cardiology, including reading EKGs and hemodynamics. She also had to have a working knowledge of the risk factors for heart disease, cardiac rehabilitation, and exercise physiology.

"The exercise physiology section was based on testing with treadmills and bicycles," Dorris said. "I have to be able to correlate the information from these tests and incorporate it into an exercise plan for the patient."

She will use her knowledge as she works with cardiopulmonary rehab patients at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"I am certified to give exercise tests to cardiac patients with a physician present," Dorris said. "In the exercise testing we do for the Rehab Program, our standard practice is to have a physician present at all times."

A graduate of Barnes Hospital School of Nursing in 1978, Dorris is also certified in advanced cardiac life support by the American Heart Association. She has worked at SEMC for 11 years and lives in Godfrey.

The Cardiopulmonary Rehab Program reflects the dedication to continuing education and new technology stressed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The other associates in the program, Bev Motil, RN, program coordinator, and Laura Tungett, RN, are both exercise specialists, a more advanced certification from the American College of Sports Medicine.

The Cardiopulmonary Rehab program can help people who have suffered a heart attack or who have been diagnosed as being at high risk for developing heart disease lead full and active lives.

The program is intended to improve the lives of patients and reduce the risk of heart disease through a combination of exercise and education.

Those who wish more information may call 798-3669.

Lancers eliminate Warriors, 47-6

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

BELLEVILLE — The 1990 Warrior football team won't make the playoffs, so it will have to consider Friday's season finale its playoff game.

But... "It wasn't a very good playoff game," said coach Tom Wyrostek.

But it will do just fine for the Belleville East Lancers, who jumped all over the Warriors for a 47-6 win in what amounted to an elimination match for the two teams.

The Lancers finished the regular season at 6-3, 4-1 in the Southwestern Conference. That gave them second place in the conference, and more importantly clinched a playoff spot. East was to find out late Saturday night where, who and what time it will be playing in the first round Wednesday.

For the Warriors, the season came to an unsatisfying end at 5-4. But they were 3-2 in conference play, good for third place and some new-found respect.

"I'm pretty pleased with our first year," said Wyrostek, who replaced Ron Yates this season at the helm. "Our freshman and sophomore teams had good years, so there is something to build on."

The Lancers were stopped the first time they had the ball Friday, but Delaun Fowler was never headed after that. He went 90 yards up the middle on a third and eight play with 5:41 left in the first quarter to break a scoreless tie and begin the avalanche.

"Fowler had a tremendous year," said Lancer coach Mike McGinnis. "I would have liked to have seen what he could have done running with Billy Jordan for another year."

Fowler finished with 192 yards on 16 carries, while Lonnie Eskant added 71 yards on only five carries. Eskant also caught four passes for 69 yards and one touchdown, while quarterback Gary Sney was 8 of 13 for 174 yards and three touchdowns.

Eskant's 45-yard run set up Fowler's one-yard plunge late in the first quarter. Fowler scored again in the second quarter before Sney found Robb Hill in the right corner 90 seconds before halftime to make it 27-0.

"Gary Sney had an outstanding game," said McGinnis. "We ran a lot of what we call choice routes and he did an outstanding job of laying the ball off to Eskant a couple times. And he threw deep very well."

His best deep throw came to Earl Gray for 59 yards and a touchdown to make it 34-0 in the third quarter. Gray had killed a pair of Warrior drives in the first half with interceptions. His touchdown came after a good Warrior drive to start the second half. Granite City went without a huddle and picked up 41 yards on eight plays before Larry Curry fumbled.

"The hurry-up offense didn't really hurt us," said McGinnis. "We just lined up on them and were ready for anything."

Eskant's 23-yard catch made it 41-0 with 32 seconds left in the third quarter before the Warriors went 77 yards in 10 plays to score their only touchdown. Erik Lewis caught a 31-yarder from Bob Thomas (9 of 21, 99 yards) and Curry caught a middle screen for 15 more before Mike Nordstrom made his only catch of the night, a six-yard scoring toss from Thomas. That was set up by a pass interference call on the Lancers.

But an onside kick failed and Chris Barron's 40-yard run set up Hill's 11-yard run as the Lancers scored only 59 seconds after Granite City's touchdown to make it 47-6.

"We just had a bad night and Belleville East deserves it," said Wyrostek. "I'm not surprised. We had a good week of practice, but it was a night where one team got all the breaks. They got some calls and we dropped some passes. They have the speed and that's the name of the game."

The Lancers waited Saturday to see who their first opponent in the playoffs would be. It could be Moline, coached by former Belleville West coach Bruce Arnold. It could also be East St. Louis.

"We had scouts out in a lot of places," said McGinnis. "Our kids really responded tonight. We battled the injuries and now we only have two guys out (Jordan and Shane Collins). Those are two good players, however."

The Lancers had 471 yards of offense, 317 on the ground. East didn't turn the ball over once. The Warriors had 229 yards and turned the ball over three times.

Goals by Wright, Buske put Warriors past Redbirds, 2-1

EDWARDSVILLE — For the second straight game, the opponent sounded happier about its effort than the Warrior soccer team. For the second straight game, the opponent is heading home for the season.

The Alton Redbirds managed to keep it close, but Granite City eked out a 2-1 win in the Edwardsville Sectional semifinals on Thursday. Springfield High (20-3-1) blanked Springfield Southeast 6-2 in the second game Thursday, setting up Saturday's 7 p.m. sectional title game. The winner moves on to the Granite City Super-Sectional on Tuesday for a berth in the state finals.

Despite the close score Thursday, the Warriors (20-3-1) had numerous chances to break the game open, but instead had to sweat out the final minutes.

"We could have been ahead 4-0 in the first half," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "We had a play right at the start of the game that would have been a goal, but there's an offside call. The officiating was tough. We've had one penalty kick all year and that was in a 7-0 game. There were some questionable takedowns tonight, but I have to commend Alton. They gave us good games all year."

It was the Warriors' third win in as many tries over the Redbirds (11-10-2). As so often happens in post-season play, the Warriors got an offensive lift

From an unexpected source. Senior Larry Wright has been in and out of the lineup all year, but scored the first goal Thursday — only his second of the year. He took a pass from Jeff Stephens and knocked in his own rebound past Alton goalie Chris Kelley at 17:34.

"Larry played one of his best games and we also got some improved play from Danny Terrell tonight," said Baker. "But it was a lot like Tuesday (a 1-0 win over Civic Memorial). We could have been bumped tonight. The players think they can peak for the big games, but they have to realize that any one of these teams could knock them out."

Granite City outshot the Redbirds 20-4, but Alton wasn't with out its chances. Brian Buske scored his 10th goal of the year at 44:44 on a pass from Jason Scrump to make it 2-0 before Alton roared back. Matt Schrimp scored on a scramble in front of Warrior keeper Tim Henson at 47:38; then Henson came out to rob Tim Schaberg moments later.

"So many teams try to play defense first against Granite City," said Alton coach Joe Gentelin. "We wanted just the opposite, but we didn't do it early and they had a lot of chances. We were fortunate to be behind only 1-0 at halftime. We figured if we could cut it down to a 40-minute game we could be dangerous, and we were."

The Warriors thought they had taken a 3-1 lead with eight minutes left after a series of headers off Terrell's throw-in from the left sideline. But after a long delay and plenty of confusion, it was ruled Wright's header had gone off the football crossbar just above the regular bar and the play was dead.

"They got the call right, but I didn't like the way they went about it," said Baker.

"We thought the ball was dead, but I don't really think they knew what to call," said Gentelin. "The important thing was they got it right. That still made it a match. We played a good second half and had a couple of opportunities."

Alton's best chance in the fourth quarter was a long shot by Jeff Carroll that almost crept in under the bar with four minutes left. But Henson got up and made the catch.

"We like to keep it close and make it exciting," said Baker. "Springfield is going to be a good test for us."

NOTES: Springfield got two goals from Bryce Blyeu in its win over Southeast. Blyeu now has 37 goals this year for the Senators. The plan for now is

Among grinders, No. 24 was Blues' best

For 23 years, the Blues have been grinder heaven, and the holy men have been king grinders.

St. Barclay took and dished out shots to the choppers for the cause. St. Sunday traded whacks in front of every net from Calgary to Philly, from Hartford to L.A. Thanks to above-average talent, incredible intensity and absurd courage, they achieved far beyond their reach.

They were the models, Barclay, Plager and Brian Sutter. They set the standard against which all Blues are measured. There were others, of course. Al Arbour was grinder No. 1. The first Blues captain made fans simultaneously applaud and cringe with his habit of skating in and dropping to the ice to block shots. He was a grinder supreme. Others followed: Plagers I and II, Larry Patey, Sutter, Doug Gilmour, Rob Ramage.

Through the years one-shot fans paid to watch the go-go guys, the guys with cutesy

Dennis Barnidge

French Canadian names, guys who skate like the wind, guys who pound shots from the blue line. Most nights, those of you familiar with Blues' history will recall, these guys were the visitors. Sometimes, though, a local put on a show. Jack Egers would get pointed in the right direction and score with a shot you'd swear should have torn right through the netting. Or Jorgen Pettersson would forget that someone might hit him and skate like he had a hand in inventing the game.

But those nights were rare. More frequent were the nights when the we-do-it-everyday grinders would have their way. More frequent were the nights when people would walk out of The Arena and into the chill talking about something Plager or Sutter had done. On those nights, one-shot fans were susceptible to being bitten by the Blues bug. Even for casual fans, even a bit ennobling about watching the king grinders work with heart and soul.

The Plagers and Sutters thus became symbols of the franchise. It is no accident the Blues retired the numbers of Barclay Plager and Brian Sutter. The other retired number belongs to Bob Gassoff, a grinder whose life was snuffed out prematurely.

Frankly, none of the three was the best Blues hockey player. (See BARNIDGE, page 3B).

Hall bends in with Cougars

By Steve Porter
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Hello, Jesse Hall. Welcome to Division II basketball.

You might expect Hall to be a bit apprehensive about the change of scenery. The 6-3½, 210-pound senior who led the Venice Red Devils to the 1987 Illinois Class A basketball championship, played — albeit sparingly — for the past three seasons at Michigan State, a Big Ten school with 48,000 students.

But now he finds himself at SIUE, a Division II school with just over 10,000 students. Quite a comedown? Not so, Hall said.

"It has been OK here," he said on the first day of pre-season practice last week. "Things are going smoother every day."

Hall is trying to find his niche with the Cougars, who lost a lot of experience from last year's 21-8 team. He's cautious when talking about his days at Michigan State, but it's obvious he never found his place on Jud Heathcote's team. Heathcote released Hall from his scholarship after last year, allowing him to transfer by moving from a Division I program to a Division II school, he doesn't have to sit out a year.

"The social part of college life at Michigan State was interesting because there was a lot of cultural diversity," Hall said.

Basketball was another story. "Playing in the Big Ten was great," he said. "It's one of the top conferences in the country. But the reason I went there was to develop my basketball skills and that never happened."

In other words, Hall found himself sitting on the bench too much for a Spartan team which improved dramatically during his time there. They were among the lesser teams in the conference as a freshman year, but advanced to the NIT semifinals in 1989 (losing to St. Louis U.) before making the NCAA Tournament last year. Michigan State is expected to contend for the conference title this year.

JESSE HALL, shown during his days at Venice High School, is rated as one of the top small school players in the country after transferring from Michigan State to SIUE.

with Indiana and Ohio State.

Hall won't be there, but at least he figures to be playing a lot of basketball.

"We'll count on him to do a lot," said Cougar coach Larry Graham, whose team opens the season Nov. 17 at home against MacMurray College. "But I hope he doesn't feel he has to do everything."

Hall is reserving judgment on his impact.

"It's too early to establish what my role will be," he said. "I just hope to lead by example and do what it takes to win."

He did that in high school. Hall was a great pressure player, and finished his career with two free throws with five seconds left for a 50-51 win over Okaville in the state title game at Champaign's Assembly Hall on March 14, 1987.

Cougar freshman Kevin Caldwell of Alton thinks Hall will make a smooth transition.

"Jesse will really be a plus for us," Caldwell said. "He'll make a big contribution to this team. I think he felt at first that he had to come in and try to do it all. But now he's come down to earth about it."

"All of the guys are eager to play and I'm just one of the guys," Hall said.

Graham might have something to add to Hall's positive approach. The two were very familiar with each other as Hall was growing up in Venice while Graham coached at Madison High School.

"I've known coach Graham ever since I was a little kid," Hall said. "That was a factor in coming here. So was the idea that I'm close to home and that I can develop myself as a player. I wanted that opportunity."

Jesse knew his options were limited," Graham said. "With a year of eligibility left, I think he wanted to play close to home."

That's not to say that at least two of them—Plager and Sutter—weren't the best Blues.

All things considered, it's not a bad group. But...

Let's not be ignorant about the business of hoisting grinders onto pedestals. It's time one of those pedestals was dusted off for the best player in franchise history.

Bernie Federko has a great grinder name. Bernie Federko sounds like a punch in the nose. It sounds like the lunch special at a tough tavern. Order up a Federko and they'll slide a braunschweiger sandwich, a shot and a beer your way. Bring on the afternoon!

Federko never was as tough as his name. At least not in the sense some others were. Blues grinders always seemed to be the kind who would answer a stick in the ribs with a poke in the eye.

Not Federko. He was hacked and whacked and smacked plenty. He typically answered with a pass to set up a goal.

Federko always was the guy in the eye of the storm. All around him things were whipping this way and that, but there, smack in the middle of all the madness, was Federko, just going about his business.

Federko's business was offense. And, plain and simple, no one in Blues history did it better or more consistently or longer.

Four times Federko scored 100 or more points. Three other times he was in the 90s. In Blues history, only three other players—Brett Hull, Adam Oates and Doug Gilmour—have topped the 100-point mark, and they have done it only once apiece.

Federko is the Blues' all-time leader in points, goals, assists and games. Among those closely associated with the franchise, Plager and Sutter included, only Federko can claim to have played at anything approaching Hall of Fame standards.

Last year, when Federko was shipped off to Detroit there was a bit of talk about throwing a Bernie Bash and retiring his No. 24 during one of the Red Wings' visits to The Arena. It never happened, probably for good reason.

Now, though, Federko has hung up his skates. Now, there's no reason to put off honoring the best player ever to skate for the Blues.

that Tuesday's game will be played on The Gauntlet no matter what. Kickoff is scheduled for 7 p.m. The winner of that game will play in the fourth state quarterfinal game in St. Charles at 7:30 p.m. on Friday. In Collinsville on Thursday, the Kahoks (13-5-2) got fourth-quarter goals from Dan Klein and Brian Reeves for a 2-1 win over Althoff (13-1-6). Tim Reyling had scored in the second quarter, but the Crusaders couldn't hang on and give goalie Fontez Mark his 15th shutout of the season. Collinsville was to play Belleville West (7-8-5) in Saturday's 7 p.m. sectional title game. The Maroons got a second-quarter goal from Brian Stork to beat Highland (13-4-2) 1-0 on Thursday.

New Air Force recruiter assigned

Air Force Lt. Colonel Kenneth C. Emery, commander of the 3545th United States Air Force Recruiting Squadron, St. Louis, recently announced the assignment of Staff Sgt. Donnell Boyd as the Air Force recruiter for this area.

Boyd is responsible for all enlisted program recruiting, and processes all applications for four-year Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) college scholarships.

He also has information on officer commissioning programs such as Officer Training School, Medical Corps, Dental Corps, Nurse Corps, and other health professional programs.

Boyd's office is located at 1631 Washington, Alton. Those interested may visit him there, or call 465-1219 for more information on Air Force opportunities.

Petish attends Army reunion

John Petish of Granite City recently attended the 45th anniversary reunion of the 34th Engineers of the U.S. Army. The reunion was held in Lancaster, Pa. from Sept. 28-30.

Petish entered the service as an electrician in the U.S. Army Combat Engineers, Headquarters and Service Company, shortly after the bombing of Pearl Harbor. His tour of duty took him to the (then) Territory of Alaska, Canada, Australia, Dutch New Guinea, the East Indies and the Philippines.

Petish and his fellow engineers "paved the way" for other companies by constructing roads, piers, buildings and airstrips, and by removing enemy "booby traps."

Petish received an honorable discharge Dec. 4, 1945, having attained the rank of master sergeant.

He later served in the U.S. Army Reserves.

Army encourages student graduation

With the growing dropout rate a major national concern, the U.S. Army has begun a new nationwide "Stay In School" program to reach high school students.

The program recognizes the need for educated young people in an increasingly complex society.

"Stay In School" messages emphasize that the best opportunities, whether existing in the Army or finding a good job, require a high school diploma. The value of graduation, both financially and personally, is stressed.

A variety of local media, including high school newspapers, suburban newspapers, sports program publications and radio public service announcements, are being used to communicate the "Stay In School" message in communities.

Posters in recruiting stations and presentations in schools by Army recruiters are highlighting the benefits of acquiring a high school diploma.

The program is being enthusiastically endorsed by school principals, superintendents, teachers, guidance counselors, sports coaches, and parents as an effort which can have an impact on potential dropouts in their area.

Staff Sgt. Nick Lawson, station commander for the Army Recruiting Station at 3675 Nameoki Road, Granite City, says "We welcome the opportunity to join with the educational community in saying to all high school students 'stay in school.'"

"We strongly believe that young people who are well informed will recognize the importance of acquiring a high school diploma to ensure their future, and are less likely to drop out," he said.

For more information about the Army's "Stay In School" program and available materials, contact Lawson at 876-5950, or stop by and visit him at the recruiting station.

Submitting a news item about family members serving in the military is easy. First determine what you want to say. Then write it out in short sentences. Make sure to cover essentials, such as names, places, times and dates. Photos will be considered for publication as well. There is no charge.

Parade and fireworks to mark 25th anniversary of the Arch

ST. LOUIS — The 25th anniversary of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, better known as the Gateway Arch, will start at 1:30 p.m. today (Sunday) with a parade downtown.

The parade, which will include several local high school bands, will begin at 12th and Market streets, said Mike Capps, park historian for the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial.

Related story, Page 6B

Entertainment on the Riverfront overlook stage will start at 2 p.m., to be followed by the Arch rededication ceremony at 5:15 p.m.

The celebration will conclude at 5:45 p.m. with fireworks on the Riverfront, Capps said.

Starting today, through the end of the year, an exhibit will be shown on how the Arch has become a part of popular culture, such as advertising and ashtrays, Capps said.

Capps expects the ceremony and the exhibit to attract from all over the St. Louis area.

"It's such a prominent feature. It's had an impact on the entire area," he said.

Postal Service conducts own mass mailing

By Terry Edelmann
Staff writer

Someone at the U.S. Postal Service has written a letter to everyone in the country.

It lists some important information — how to address a letter.

Most people learn this skill in second or third grade. But like everything else, the rules have changed.

So the Postal Service is giving a crash course in the new way to address an envelope.

Some of the new rules will make an English teacher wince: There are too many capital letters, and too few commas and colons.

But the reward for following the rules is faster mail delivery, postal officials said.

Dianne Williams, local communications manager for the Postal Service, said the difference between properly and improperly addressed mail is significant.

Mail addressed with ZIP+4 codes, punctuation and capitalization according to the Postal Service's rules passes through high-speed equipment at a rate of 30,000 pieces per hour, Williams said.

Improperly addressed mail is kicked out of the machine and must be examined by postal employees at a rate of 1,800 pieces per hour, she said.

Williams said people who don't know their ZIP+4 codes can find it on most of their bills.

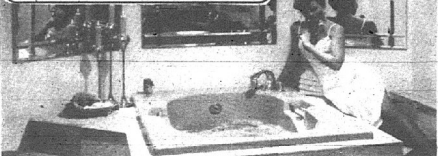

If it doesn't appear there, people can call the U.S. Postal Service's ZIP code information number, 436-4454, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Gateway Arch marks quarter-century milestone

By Dawn Adams Huffman
Staff writer

The Gateway Arch touched the lives of St. Louisans, from school children to business executives, even before the last keystone was placed 25 years ago today.

"The papers followed the construction of the Arch even to the point of giving the date and the height the Arch had reached," said Mike Capps, park historian for the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, the Riverfront grounds of which the Arch is a part.

"The placing of the last keystone (Oct. 28, 1965) was a big event — people had been waiting it (the Arch) be built for 2½ years," Capps said.

Also tracking the progress of the Arch was radio station KXOK and the station's former disc jockey, Ron Elz, known on the air then as "Johnny Rabbit." KXOK used the Arch to promote the station because the Arch is 630 feet tall and 630 feet wide at the base, and KXOK could be found at 630 on the AM dial.

"It was so obvious after the statistics came out. It was just perfect for the station," said Elz, who now hosts the afternoon drive time on WIL radio.

The radio station, which played rock and roll, was one of the first businesses to use the Arch as its symbol, Elz said.

But while teen-agers were listening to the station's contest to guess the finishing date of the Arch, younger children in local schools were signing their names to papers put inside the last section of the Arch.

Danielle Egeling, teacher at New City School in the Central West End, remembers being a fourth-grader at the Kirkwood School District's Henry Hough School and putting her name in a box that was put in the keystone piece.

Egeling, 35, told her first-graders the story. When she took them on a field trip to celebrate the Arch's 25th anniversary, they couldn't understand why they couldn't find her name. "Here my kids thought I was like famous or something," she said.

Capps said there are no plans to take the box out of the keystone for the Arch's 25th anniversary, which is being celebrated today at the Arch. Former St. Louis Mayor Alfonso Cervantes submitted his name to the same box, and even he didn't know when it would be brought out, Capps said.

From 1961, when construction started on the $30 million Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, former St. Louis Mayor Raymond Tucker and then Cervantes, as well as local business organizations, used the Arch as a catalyst for the rebuilding of downtown.

Since 1960, St. Louis has attracted 50 new office buildings and 15 new hotels, said Ed Rueising, president of Downtown St. Louis, Inc. About 75 office buildings have been renovated in the last 30 years.

"The Arch has had an enormous economic impact on downtown," Rueising said. "It was the focus for $3 billion in investment in the downtown over the last 30 years."

Part of what brought businesses to St. Louis is the more than 60 million tourists who have flocked to the Arch, said Ned Taddeucci, president of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

"While the Arch attracts them to St. Louis, they go to visit other places," Taddeucci said.

The whole idea of the Arch stemmed from a desire to revitalize St. Louis, Capps said. Luther Ely Smith, a St. Louis attorney, dreamed of revitalizing downtown with some type of Riverfront memorial recognizing St. Louis' role in the westward expansion.

It wasn't until 1947 that the Arch was picked as the design for the memorial. The Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Association sponsored an architects' competition, and Eero Saarinen's design won.

"The people (on the committee) said the design was inspired, but they wondered if it could actually be done," Capps said. "The thing about construction on the Arch is they had to invent ways of doing it as they went along."

Because elevators and escalators were impractical to use for the journey to the top of the Arch, a new contraption had to be invented, Capps said.

On the tram system of the Arch, which is set on tracks on the north and south legs, people ride in capsules that negotiate turns by rotating and then mechanically righting themselves, said Harry Breitenstein, maintenance foreman.

"It's the one and only of its kind in the world," said Breitenstein, who said most parts of the tram are custom-made.

"It was interesting and a new challenge," said Breitenstein, who's stuck with the job for more than 22 years.

"The majority of them (tram riders) are eager to go up," he said. "Usually that's the reason they came here."
